

The Program Library

Four series, built on one system. Every program runs the same structure — a screen, a weekly blueprint, phase progression, benchmark retests, and written rules for what to do when life interferes. Evidence led, not trend led.

Corrective Series 9 PROGRAMS

6 weeks · 3 days per week · minimal equipment

For a specific area that hurts, stiffens or keeps failing. Each one screens five common patterns, then loads the tissue that is actually under-built. Run alongside any other AXIS program.

Fundamentals Series 2 PROGRAMS

12 weeks · 3 days per week · full gym

Where most people should start. General strength and athleticism with no sport attached — the base every performance family assumes you already have. Foundation first if you are new to lifting; Athletic Development if you already train.

Performance Series 24 PROGRAMS

6 sport families × 4 blocks · a full training year each

Pick the family your sport belongs to, then run the four blocks in order — a complete year that builds in the off-season, sharpens before the season, holds through it, and repairs after it.

Physique Series 7 PROGRAMS

12 weeks · 3–6 days per week · full gym

Built for muscle, organised by the question that actually matters: how many days can you train? Every split reaches every muscle at least twice a week — the splits differ in how the work is distributed, not in how much there is.

Full Body 12 WK · 3 DAYS	Upper / Lower 12 WK · 4 DAYS	PPL + Upper/Lower 12 WK · 5 DAYS
